

FLORENCE BURNS SUES HUSBAND FOR A DIVORCE

Woman Accused of Killing
Walter Brooks Says Wildrick Deserted Her.

Florence Burns Wildrick, who six years ago was tried and acquitted of the murder of Walter Brooks, who was found shot to death in the Glen Island Hotel, began suit for divorce in the Special Term of the Brooklyn Supreme Court today. The young woman charged in her complaint that her husband, Charles White Wildrick, to whom she was married in 1902, treated her cruelly and inhumanly, threatened her life with a revolver and preferred the society of other women.

The complaint in the action was presented to Justice Crane by Herman L. Roth, an attorney, of No. 142 Broadway. He moved for alimony of $25 a week and a counsel fee of $250, and declared that the defendant's income was at least $200 a week.

Mrs. Wildrick did not appear in court. Her lawyer said that she was ill at her present home, No. 236 Putnam avenue.

The complaint averred that the Wildricks were married on November 22, 1902, and that they lived happily for three years. After that, according to the young woman's affidavit and a letter attached to it, her husband commenced to show a too deep appreciation for the society of stenographers and telephone girls. One stenographer—Dutch Sadies—is referred to particularly in the letter.

Says He Beat Her.

In the complaint, however, no correspondent is named specifically. A number are named in general. The former Florence Burns says in her complaint that her husband deserted her in 1906; that he had never been very good to her, and that before he left her he had become addicted to the habit of beating her and using morphine.

The defendant in the suit had an answer ready in which he heaped up the allegations against the dashing young woman who for so many weeks lived in the limelight of notoriety.

Wildrick's counsel, Tatlo Jackson, of No. 320 Broadway, declared that the young man had been entirely justified in leaving his wife. It was alleged in Wildrick's answer that Florence was an inveterate gambler and had never taken care of her home or attempted to make a happy one.

After the couple separated, wrote Wildrick, his wife constantly annoyed him by sending defamatory postal cards to his places of business, driving him out of two places where he had employment. One of the postal cards which were mentioned in the complaint read:

"If you wish to spare yourself a very disagreeable denunciation as to your physical condition, crooked business methods, morphia habits, etc., I would advise you to either communicate with me or my lawyer."

Gambles, He Says.

This was only a sample of the malicious nature of the postal cards which were showered upon the husband, according to his affidavit. He denied that he had failed to provide her with money, alleging that in eleven months he had sent her $300, had arranged for her to visit Liberty N. Y., last summer, paid for her board there and sent her $12 a week spending money.

Mrs. Wildrick gambled constantly, the young man stated, and on one occasion he got a postal card from her in which she said she had been stricken with a hemorrhage in a gambling house just as she was "making a pile."

Instead of making $50 a week, Wildrick declared that his earnings did not aggregate more than $1200. To prove this his lawyer produced the affidavit of his employer, Arnold E. Peterson, an advertising agent, of No. 150 Nassau street.

Justice Crane took the papers and reserved decision.

Arnold & Company

438 FULTON ST., Brooklyn.

Paris, New York, San Francisco, Louisville.

The New Garment Store for Women

Will Open on Saturday, April 18

Arnold & Co. will open the store formerly occupied by Lawrence Field & Co. The new concern is one of a chain of stores with headquarters in New York and buying offices in Paris. For fifteen years this organization has been engaged in retailing

Women's Outer Garments of the Better Grades

And in the cities where its stores are already located it has built up a growing business and an enviable reputation by giving

Exceptional Values in High Class Merchandise

It comes to Brooklyn with confidence in its ability to win recognition by following the same methods that have brought success elsewhere. From time to time there will be special offerings of wanted and fashionable garments—but there will be no bid for your patronage by means of exaggerated or inflated claims.

Every statement put forth by Arnold & Co. must and will be exact and can be accepted absolutely as such. Every garment sold in this shop is guaranteed for satisfactory service.

Arnold & Co. realizes that Brooklyn can boast of some of the finest stores in the country, but because of its extensive organization and consequent exceptional buying power it believes it is in a position to give to the women of Brooklyn even better values than they have yet had, and certainly more exclusive styles. We believe every woman in Brooklyn will be interested in the opening display of

Suits, Dresses, Waists, Coats and Skirts

Every woman is cordially invited to come and see them. Special opening inducements will be announced later. Watch for them.

During our Opening Day we will give away 100 pots of Easter lilies per hour and deliver same. Kindly leave your name and address with the party in charge.
